

Painting the Map Red: Canada and the South African War, 1899-1902 (Canadian War Museum Historical Publication ; No. 28)

Painting the Map Red is based on extensive research into public and private papers from printed and manuscript sources in both Canada and Britain. Carman Miller attempts to explain why men volunteered for service in this distant conflict despite the rancorous pre-war debate on the wisdom of Canadian participation. He examines the difficulties of leading citizen soldiers and compares the differing styles of leadership. He also reveals how the soldiers experiences in the field and the publics perceptions of the war altered Canadian opinion, politics, and military development.
