Excerpt: ... 235 Revelation vi. 2. And He went forth, conquering,--and to conquer. In passing through the islands on the coast of Lesser Asia, we caught sight of one which filled our minds with deep and solemn thought. It was the prison-place of St. John, the beloved disciple of our Lord, who there revealed to him the future things relating to His kingdom. He told him that after much tribulation in His Church, there would be, in the end, a long and blessed period when His kingdom upon earth would be universal, and when all would be holy, like the saints and martyrs, and the angels of heaven. The island we saw was the isle named Patmos. In this manner I introduced my purpose on Sunday last, to call your attention to-day to the details of what our Lord there revealed to the favoured Apostle. I proceed to fulfil my promise. It is my last address founded on what we saw in our Eastern travels, and will be a summary and completion of the great and solemn thoughts which the sight of the several localities excited in our minds. In it there may be some things hard to be understood; but hard only to those who have not read the word of God closely, or read it without that meekness and docility of mind which the study requires. Give me, then, the greater attention. Pray inwardly to Gods Holy Spirit, that what I read and you hear may be understood and felt. Go back with me first to the garden of Eden. When Adam and Eve were tempted by Satan, and fell, a Eedeemer was promised, and the overthrow of Satan announced. And after a time God came down from heaven, and called Abraham, and told him that, for his faithfulness and obedience, the Eedeemer, Christ Jesus, should come through him; and that in Christ Jesus, his Seed, all the families of the earth should be blessed. And Abr...
